About MBTI®

The Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® (MBTI®) is the most widely used personality instrument in the world. Seventy-five percent of all Fortune 500 companies use it, and more than two million individuals take the assessment each year. There must be good reasons for that.

Once you know who you are and how you are different from others, you will understand what works best for you. You will improve your own growth and your interactions with other people at work and in your personal life.

Together we will learn in this workshop

- personality type theory based on the works of Carl G. Jung and Myers-Briggs
- how we direct our energy
- how we take in information
- how we make decisions
- how we organize ourselves and the world around us and how to apply all this effectively in every day life at work and at home to improve development, communication, and conflict management.
